Delta's fleet now has more IFE screens than any airline's in the world

Delta Air Line's inflight entertainment line-up will soon offer passengers even more media options when Hulu Originals titles join the carrier's selection of 3,000 movies, TV shows and music already available on board.

Beginning in August, titles such as The Handmaid's Tale and Fyre Fraud will be available to Delta customers, including those on its 700th aircraft now equipped with seatback screens, free of charge.

Ekrem Dimbiloglu, Director – Onboard Product and Customer Experience, said in a statement from Delta: "Customers continue to tell us entertainment is a top priority. That's why we keep extending our lead in having more aircraft with seatback entertainment than any other airline in the world, and continue partnering with entertainment giants like Hulu to bring customers at-home favorites at 30,000 feet. These investments reinforce Delta's reputation as the entertainment airline."
