Airline tabletop products supplier AMKO announced today it was opening a new office in Amsterdam.

“The presence of AMKO in the Netherlands will further expand the company’s presence in EMEA. With the opening of a branch in mainland Europe, AMKO Group International Ltd. seriously enters the European stage in 2014,” said a release from the company.

Tom Werkhoven will head the Amsterdam office as Director of Europe, Middle East and Africa. He has worked in the airline industry for many years, from product specification to supply chain management.

“I am delighted to have the opportunity to interact with AMKO’s existing customers and developing new business opportunities for the company,” he said. “Being in the Netherlands will be a benefit to existing customers and potential new customers.”

“AMKO’s expansion with this new office is absolutely necessary in providing outstanding service to our international customers,” said AMKO’s Joseph Catarino.
