
SWISS First Class lounge honored by Skytrax

By PAX International on June, 19 2019 | Airline & Terminal News

Harry Hohmeister, Member of the Executive Board of Deutsche Lufthansa AG and Chief Commercial Officer Network Airlines (second from left), and Dr. Andreas Otto, Lufthansa Group Product Manager for Premium Airlines and Chief Commercial Officer Austrian Airlines (third from left), accept the award on behalf of Swiss International Air Lines and Lufthansa Group

At this year's Skytrax World Airline Awards, Swiss International Air Lines (SWISS) was recognized for its Terminal E First Class Lounge at Zurich Airport (ZRH).

The airline was bestowed the "World's Best First Class Lounge" award. The distinction was presented yesterday in a Skytrax ceremony at Le Bourget Airport as part of the 2019 Paris Air Show.

This year, the Hub Airlines of the Lufthansa Group received four first-place wins. The awards are based on a survey conducted by the Skytrax market research institute of some 20 million air travelers in over 160 countries.

"This recognition by our customers is a great honor for us," said SWISS Chief Commercial Officer Tamur Goudarzi Pour in a press release announcing the win. "As Switzerland's premium airline, we constantly strive to offer a first-class air travel experience. So we are especially pleased that we have evidently succeeded in doing so with our Zurich Terminal E First Class Lounge."

The winning ZRH lounge includes a number of amenities such as a hotel room, conference room, mini-¹ suites, a champagne bar and an à la carte restaurant. There is also a 352-square-meter terrace from which visitors can relax, watch flights land and take off and, in the winter, enjoy a fondue or raclette while taking in a view of the Swiss Alps.