

Viasat and JetBlue extend connectivity partnership

Viasat and JetBlue extend partnership to include Viasat Amara

JetBlue has extended its partnership with Viasat, building on more than a decade of collaboration to bring fast, free inflight connectivity to JetBlue passengers.

The expanded partnership includes installing new aircraft with Viasat Amara, the supplier's next-gen IFC solution; plus, a multi-year extension of service on aircraft already equipped with Viasat's latest technology.

"This extension is a testament to the strong relationship and shared vision between Viasat and JetBlue. Together, we're committed to providing a connected, enjoyable experience for JetBlue's customers," Viasat said in its announcement.
