Atlantic Airways' Atlantic Connect platform, developed with Moment, offers passengers access to movies, television shows and other inflight entertainment on their personal devices

Moment has signed agreements with Air Caraïbes and Atlantic Airways to deploy its Flymingo Box inflight entertainment solution across eight aircraft, expanding its presence in regional and island aviation markets.

Air Caraïbes will introduce the portable, battery-powered Flymingo Box across four ATR 72 aircraft operating regional routes in the Caribbean, connecting destinations including Pointe-à-Pitre, Fort-de-France and Saint-Martin.

Designed for short-haul operations, the wireless solution allows passengers to access entertainment on their personal devices without requiring permanent onboard installations.

"Partnering with Moment highlights our focus on innovation to elevate the onboard experience, tailored to the unique needs of our Caribbean inter-island flights," said Karen Virapin, Chief Executive Officer, Air Caraïbes.

Atlantic Airways, the national carrier of the Faroe Islands, will equip four A320 aircraft with an aircraft-powered version of Flymingo Box, alongside Moment's MOOD digital platform.

The platform combines entertainment, onboard services and passenger engagement through a single digital ecosystem. Branded Atlantic Connect, the service supports the airline's efforts to enhance its onboard experience across routes connecting the Faroe Islands with major European destinations.

"Our passengers are at the heart of everything we do, and we want their time onboard to be as enjoyable as possible," said Jóhanna á Bergi, Chief Executive Officer, Atlantic Airways.

Both airlines will offer multilingual entertainment libraries featuring movies, television series, children's programming, podcasts, games and digital publications.

Air Caraïbes will provide content in English and French, while Atlantic Airways will offer English, French, German, Spanish and Faroese options.

The agreements reflect growing demand for lightweight, wireless IFE solutions that can accommodate the operational requirements of regional and island carriers.

"Through its support of Caribbean and North Atlantic operators, Moment affirms its commitment to delivering innovative, scalable digital solutions to airlines connecting island communities across the globe," said Tanguy Morel, Chief Executive Officer and Co-founder, Moment.

The partnerships strengthen Moment's position in the regional aviation market, offering airlines flexible digital entertainment solutions without the complexity of traditional embedded IFE systems.
