

CCE Group and Emirates sign MoU to expand cabin innovation collaboration

The MoU lays the foundation for a strategic partnership aimed partly at co-developing next-generation cabin products and evaluating selected manufacturing and service capabilities in the UAE

CCE Group and Emirates have signed a Memorandum of Understanding to explore expanded long-term industrial, services, digital and commercial collaboration in the UAE.

The MoU lays the foundation for a strategic partnership aimed partly at co-developing next-generation cabin products and evaluating selected manufacturing and service capabilities in the UAE.

Klaus Hofmann, Group CEO of CCE Group, said, “We are honored to build on our long-standing relationship with Emirates, one of the most respected airlines in the world. Our companies share a commitment to innovation, sustainability and world-class engineering, and we see significant potential in deepening our cooperation. By combining CCE Group’s expertise in cabin and cargo equipment with Emirates’ global leadership, we look forward to developing solutions that support the airline’s future ambitions.”

The agreement was announced at Dubai Airshow 2025, underscoring the shared ambition of both organizations to drive the next wave of innovation in aircraft equipment.
