

STELIA Aerospace to celebrate OPERA® family addition

STELIA Aerospace's booth at AIX in 2019

STELIA Aerospace is gearing up for Aircraft Interiors Expo (AIX) 2024, taking place in Hamburg from May 28 to 30.

The company invites attendees to be among the first to witness the unveiling of a sustainable version of the OPERA® family. STELIA Aerospace will introduce a new, long-haul business class seat with a sustainable design at the event.

The OPERA® family seats feature STELIA's signature herringbone design and are available on Airbus and Boeing platforms, from single-aisle to widebody, short-haul to long-haul.

"We are thrilled to showcase our latest innovations and advancements at Aircraft Interiors Expo 2024," said Thierry Kanengieser, VP Cabin Interiors at STELIA Aerospace. "STELIA offers a diverse range of solutions, addressing the industry challenges while redefining the future of travel with exceptional comfort, sustainability and reliability."

STELIA Aerospace will be exhibiting at booth 7A30 in hall B7.