

STELIA Aerospace to unveil updated RENDEZ-VOUS® and showcase OPERA® family at AIX

RENDEZ-VOUS® Premium Business Class seats

STELIA Aerospace is returning to the Aircraft Interiors Expo (AIX) 2025, taking place from April 8 to 10. The brand will showcase its latest innovations in luxurious and bespoke seating solutions for premium air travel. This year, STELIA will be highlighting the evolution of RENDEZ-VOUS®.

Originally launched in 2023, this next-generation Business Class seat is returning with a brand-new, redesigned version. This next-generation seat is tailored for the wide-body market, delivering enhanced space, superior comfort, increased storage, seamless access and a smart design adaptable to multiple platforms. And while it retains its signature “sofa” layout, making it one of the widest seats in its class, STELIA Aerospace hints in its March 10 press release that the new RENDEZ-VOUS comes with a surprising twist—this unveiling will take place at AIX 2025.

Also on display will be the entire OPERA® family, a Business Class range featuring a signature reverse herringbone design that provides a window view and natural privacy. Providing passengers with unmatched comfort and the widest full-flat bed on single-aisle, the OPERA® family ensures a lavish experience regardless of the aircraft type, from single-aisle to widebody, short-haul to long-haul, on Airbus and Boeing platforms.

Additionally, STELIA Aerospace will introduce an upgraded version “Business Class +” of its OPERA Single-Aisle: a front row high-end seat with enhanced privacy. This premium seat offers greater customization possibilities for airlines, integrating innovative technologies and a new signature lighting system.

“At STELIA Aerospace, we are committed to pushing the boundaries of premium passenger seating, and we are excited to showcase our latest innovations at Aircraft Interiors Expo 2025, particularly our reinvented RENDEZ-VOUS,” said Thierry Kanengieser, VP Cabin Interior at STELIA Aerospace. “By combining cutting-edge design, superior comfort, and smart solutions, we help airlines meet evolving passenger expectations while addressing key challenges such as sustainability and competitiveness. Our mission is to redefine the future of air travel—offering an unparalleled level of luxury, efficiency, and reliability.”

STELIA will be exhibiting at stand 7A30, hall B7.