
Airbase to manufacture seat covers for Acro

By Rick Lundstrom on October, 9 2019 | Seating

Airbase, part of Trenchard Aviation Group, announced today a contract to manufacture Ultra-Leather™ seat covers for Acro Aircraft Seating. The contract will help Acro provide new seats for Spirit Airlines.

“We’re delighted to be working with Acro to help them fulfill their contract with Spirit Airlines. This new win is further evidence of how successful we are at meeting the needs of the aircraft cabin interiors industry,” Mark Faulkner, Trenchard Aviation Group’s CEO.

Airbase, located close to London Gatwick Airport, has more than 20 years’ experience of managing aircraft cabin interiors, including soft furnishings, carpets and dry cleaning. With its own cut and sew facilities on-site, the company’s expertise covers the manufacture of all types of seat covers and curtains as well as flight deck seat covers, fire containment sacks and other cabin bags and warning streamers. All textile materials used in manufacturing are tested in the company’s on-site UKAS-approved vertical burn test chamber.