Albéa Travel Designer has announced the launch of "Travel&StaySafe" kit which includes mask, hydro-alcoholic gel, gloves and more. According to the press release, Albéa Travel Designer will soon launch an e-commerce platform where PPE and kits will be offered for sale with low minimum quantities.

The kit is available to airlines, railways, shipping companies and private transport companies, as well as to taxi, car rental, duty free and more for short and long distances.

The kits are made to order and can be customized to suit the image of the airline. They are available for worldwide delivery, considering the health and safety standards and regulatory specificities of each country.

Albéa Travel Designer supplies different types of masks (KN95, FFP2, surgical type 1, reusable, available in adult and child sizes), disposable lab coats, overcoats, gloves, disinfectant wipes, hand cleaning gel, or hydro-alcoholic solutions in sedentary or travel format.

This launch comes as The Albéa Group continues its contribution to the fight against COVID-19. "The entire group, through its employees, has mobilized to respond to this unprecedented crisis," read the Travel&StaySafe kit press release. In early May, the supplier told PAX International how it contributed to the production of pumps and tubes for hydro-alcoholic gel solutions since the start of the pandemic. In addition, various local initiatives were launched in the countries where the company operates and it distributed masks, hand disinfectants, and protective visors for healthcare workers.
