

LATAM goes plastic-free with Kaelis

Sustainable and reusable packaging is now available for LATAM's mattress pillow and duvet

Kaelis is helping LATAM meet its sustainability goals. Currently, the airline gets rid of all single-use plastic packaging in its business class cabins all across the floors and isles. Together with Kaelis, according to a recent release, the airline has now developed sustainable reusable packaging for its mattress pillow and duvet onboard.

The canvas bags add to the comfort and home-like feel inside the cabin. The sustainability story is shared with a simple message on the bag. "The sand tone and cylindrical design of these natural bags add to the aesthetic appeal inviting passengers to a great start to their journey," the release said.

These initiatives are part of LATAM's sustainability strategy. The airline's goals include: zero landfill waste by 2027, offsetting 50 percent of domestic emissions by 2030 and being carbon neutral by 2050.

Kaelis is proud to be a part of the change and to be helping airlines achieve sustainable goals.
