

THAI and Sirivannavari introduce Royal First Class amenity kits

THAI's new Royal First Class amenity kit collection, created with SIRIVANNAVARI, features contemporary interpretations of Thai cultural motifs

Thai Airways (THAI) has introduced a new Royal First Class amenity kit collection in collaboration with Thai luxury fashion brand Sirivannavari. The collection comprises two design concepts that reinterpret Thai art, culture and beliefs in a contemporary format.

One draws on Thai mythology, featuring the auspicious horse, elephant, lion and ox associated with the four cardinal directions of Mount Sumeru. Peacock, iris and orchid motifs complete the design, referencing Sirivannavari and THAI.

The second concept celebrates Thai hospitality through contemporary interpretations of the Phuang Malai floral garland and Uba decorative tassel. A banana-tree motif, representing abundance, serenity and well-being, is paired with Sirivannavari's signature peacock motif and a celebration-inspired color palette.

Both rectangular kits include matching leather handles and an embossed Sirivannavari logo. Inside,

Royal First Class passengers will find La Prairie skincare products, exclusive Sirivannavari items and other travel amenities. Passengers will also receive a La Prairie facial-treatment voucher redeemable at participating locations in Thailand and overseas.

The THAI x Sirivannavari amenity kits are now available to Royal First Class passengers on selected services to London, Osaka and Tokyo Narita.

Find more images of the kits below:

