DFMi and Around Noon bring fresh, chef-crafted solutions to inflight menus

This is a special feature from the April 2026 WTCE Hamburg issue of PAX International, on page 18.

Around Noon's portfolio extends beyond sandwiches, including fresh salads, indulgent bakery items and a selection of hot pre-landing snacks

Around Noon, represented by DFMi, delivers chef-crafted, ready-to-serve food solutions designed for today's fast-paced travel environment. Known for premium fresh sandwiches and wraps, the brand combines quality ingredients, thoughtful recipes and convenient individual or bulk options that perform seamlessly across airline cabins and travel channels.

The portfolio extends beyond sandwiches to fresh salads, indulgent bakery items and a selection of hot pre-landing snacks aimed at providing comfort and satisfaction during the final stage of flight. From flaky pastries to warm handheld options, each product is developed with both taste and operational efficiency in mind.

With a focus on freshness, consistency and scalable production, Around Noon helps airline partners elevate onboard menus while simplifying service for crew. Its versatile range supports multiple dayparts, enabling high-quality meal and snack solutions throughout the journey. Visit Around Noon at WTCE booth A1G88.
