

Flying Food Group caters STARLUX flights from SFO

STARLUX flights are now catered by Flying Food Group from SFO and LAX

Flying Food Group has announced that its San Francisco (SFO) facility is catering three weekly STARLUX Airlines flights to Taipei, Taiwan. The service began on December 16, 2023.

This marks the second USA route for STARLUX following the launch of its Los Angeles International Airport (LAX) service in April 2023. The route is operated with A350-900 aircraft featuring First, Business, Premium and Economy Class options for passengers.

Flying Food Group also caters for STARLUX flights departing from LAX. The airline has extended its partnership with Flying Food Group as it takes off from SFO.

“It is great to have the trust and confidence of a customer launching new routes with an outstanding inflight service. It demonstrates a high level in trust and confidence in the entire Flying Food Group team and culinary capabilities,” said Nicolas Rondeau, Executive Vice President, Airline Sales and Marketing.
