
Foodcase names International Sales Director

By Rick Lundstrom on March, 14 2019 | Catering

Netherlands-based Foodcase International announced yesterday that it has named Mark Hol as the company's International Sales Director and member of the management team.

He comes to the company from travel retail with strategic knowledge in onboard retail. "Together with the existing team, the International Sales Director will contribute to the ongoing professionalization and ambitious growth objectives in the organization," said a release from Foodcase.

"Mark is very excited about his new role as part of the Foodcase team and we got to know him as a very hands-on and sales driven personality," said Wilbert de Louw, CEO of Foodcase.