

Air Astana launches infant kit with Kaelis

The kits contain a changing mat, extra nappies and a teether rattle

Travelling from a young age can be quite a challenge, both for parents and babies, and it's easy to misplace or forget important items. Having the basic essentials at hand makes the whole experience a memorable one.

Air Astana together with Kaelis has developed a practical and stylish reusable lunch bag for modern living, which is insulated to keep food and drink fresh for longer. This cylindrical bag can be used for bottles or tupperwares and it has a secure zip fastening and grab handles for easy carrying.

A combination of comfortable style, premium quality and practical functionality makes this lunch bag on every parent's wishlist. It contains a changing mat, extra nappies and a teether rattle to comfort the youngest passengers.
