

Global Inflight Products showcases customizable compact duvet at IFSA Global EXPO

The customizable duvets are on display at Global EXPO

At IFSA Global EXPO, Global Inflight Products (GIP) is showcasing its suite of products, highlighting the customization options of its recently introduced compact duvet. The temperature-sensitive duvet offers airlines the ability to select colors and patterns on each side, opening new opportunities for brand expression in the cabin. Despite its reduced size when folded—half the volume of GIP’s standard duvets—the product unfolds into a generously sized blanket that delivers the same warmth and comfort passengers expect.

Lightweight and easy to store, the duvet also supports sustainability goals. Presented in GIP’s kraft-paper packaging loop, it eliminates the need for traditional plastic wrapping, offering a cleaner look and a more environmentally friendly solution.

“At Global Inflight Products, we believe true luxury lies in the details—the quiet comfort of a perfectly weighted duvet, the elegance of finely tailored sleepwear and the sense of calm brought on by a well-considered amenity kit,” says Zine Badissy, CEO of GIP. “We celebrate the art of rest and refinement in the skies through three essential passenger touchpoints.”
