

Linstol achieves Platinum EcoVadis rating

Linstol receives EcoVadis Platinum rating for 2026

Linstol has been awarded a Platinum rating in the 2026 EcoVadis sustainability assessment, achieving an overall score of 86 percent. This distinction places Linstol among the top one percent of more than 150,000 companies assessed worldwide, reflecting its leadership in responsible and sustainable business practices.

The Platinum rating underscores Linstol's continued commitment to delivering measurable progress against sustainability goals. As EcoVadis introduces enhanced requirements and shifts its focus toward demonstrated results and tangible actions, this recognition highlights the strength of environmental stewardship, ethical operations, and responsible sourcing initiatives.

"Achieving Platinum status from EcoVadis is a significant milestone for Linstol," said Steve Wickham, Global Head of ESG at Linstol. "Sustainability is not a standalone initiative for us, it is embedded in how we design, source, and deliver our products. This recognition reflects the dedication of our global teams and partners who are committed to driving meaningful, measurable impact across the aviation industry."

This achievement is the result of the collective efforts of our global teams, trusted suppliers, and valued customers. Together, we are advancing innovative, sustainability-driven inflight solutions designed to reduce environmental impact while elevating the passenger experience.
