

SATS to support sustainability efforts through its supply chain with supplier program

SATS is educating small-medium enterprises through its Supplier Engagement Program

SATS Ltd. announced in a February 1 press release that it will embark on a comprehensive collaboration with UOB, to support sustainability efforts throughout its supply chain. The initiative will be deployed through its Supplier Engagement Program, aimed at small-medium enterprises (SMEs) in Singapore.

“As a responsible steward, it is our duty to support our suppliers in their decarbonization journeys and provide them with the means of operating in a more sustainable manner,” says Tan Yen Ling, Head of Group Sustainability, SATS. “Our suppliers adopting decarbonization solutions also contributes to SATS’ objectives of minimizing the environmental impact of our supply chain.”

The company is striving to further its own sustainability initiatives while encouraging the same from its suppliers, introducing them to opportunities that aid in decarbonizing their operations.

SATS aims to reduce carbon emissions and transition towards green energy use through electrification, solarisation and energy optimization. The company recently attained the LowCarbonSG logo, while also encouraging its suppliers to pledge and join the program.
