The coat hanger innovation from Kaelis matches passenger seat number to their jacket to make coat check-in service run more smoothly

Kaelis has introduced its latest innovation to make coat check-in service easier for all KLM Royal Dutch Airlines Business Class passengers and crew.

The coat hanger features two built-in wheels. Crew members turn the wheels to set numbers to correspond with the passengers' seat number before hanging the jacket. This eliminates the need for crew to collect passengers' boarding pass to hang a coat. The device also saves time for crew members and reduces the chance of misplacing passengers' belongings.

The hanger is made of ABS plastic and is personalized to match KLM's white and blue branding colors.
