The 'We Care' Emergency Kit by RMT Global Partners

RMT Global Partners is known for its amenities and comfort products, soft products and tableware—but the company also supplies customizable Emergency Care Kits. Richard Tuttle, Founder, RMT Global Partners, tells PAX International that the standard We Care Kits offer everything cabin crew need to manage emergencies, spills and clean ups with ease.

"We've been working hard to grow our offerings for our airline partners. What started with our onboard Tidy Mop Kits has now expanded into a complete line, including Emergency Cleaning Kits, Diaper Kits and wipes. Whether through custom options or under our 'We Care' brand, we're proud to provide solutions that truly meet the needs of the industry," says Tuttle.

The Emergency Cleaning Kits are ideal for travel sickness and other spill situations, offering easy disposal in a convenient package for onboard storage. The kits are designed to protect both passengers and crew throughout the journey and can be customized with contents to meet the airline's specifications: nitrile gloves, airsick bags, diapers, clean-com wipes, biohazard kits and more. Customization may be subject to MOQ depending on the requested components. The kits are made with eco-friendly values in mind, containing biodegradable wipes, recyclable packaging and sustainable materials.

"These kits equips crew with the tools they need to be prepared to manage emergency situations safely," Tuttle explains, giving the example of RMT's safe, non-toxic Enviro-Sorb product which turns one liter of liquid into gel, making it easier to deal with spills.
