

DFMi introduces Supplier Showcase series

DFMi has announced a new Supplier Showcase series highlighting recent additions to its supplier network and the products and capabilities for its airline customers.

Rolling out over the coming weeks, the series will introduce some of the company's newest supplier partners, sharing stories, showcasing products and highlighting what distinguishes the offerings.

The initiative follows DFMi's continued expansion of its supplier portfolio, which includes emerging brands and established manufacturers. The company said its focus remains on identifying products and solutions that respond to the evolving needs of airlines and passengers.

"Our focus remains on identifying products and solutions that align with the evolving needs of airlines and the passengers they serve," DFMi said in the announcement.

DFMi also highlighted its refreshed website, where visitors can explore its growing supplier network and learn more about the products and capabilities it represents.
