

Snackbox To Go brings efficiency at Argon 45a

This is a special feature from PAX International's March 2024 Amenities & Comfort issue, on page 38.

The new Head Office has a presentation area for client meetings and an airline oven for testing products

Underlining its commitment to innovation, Snackbox To Go tells PAX International it has relocated its Head Office to Argon 45a, Oud-Gastel, the Netherlands. The move to the extensive business park enables the company to serve customers worldwide more efficiently.

“Our growth and commitment to service and quality have led us to a state-of-the-art logistics center, which provides an inspiring environment for both our customers and our team,” Kees Verschuure, Sales Director at Snackbox, tells PAX International.

Snackbox To Go's Head Office building at Argon 45a, Oud-Gastel, the Netherlands

The office features a dedicated presentation area where Snackbox can host customers for meetings, brainstorming and product development discussions. To ensure customers get exactly what they need, the facility also has an airline oven for testing all products. Kees says Snackbox is now positioned to ship worldwide, including the ability to handle daily shipments throughout Europe.

“Thanks to advanced equipment, we can communicate flexibly and effortlessly. We strive to always be connected and respond quickly to our customers’ needs,” he explains, adding, “Our dedicated employees remain our greatest asset. Their expertise, service orientation and passion for quality are the core of our success.”

Kees says the company is ready to make the most of the new location immediately.

“We cordially invite you to visit our new building and experience how we, with our team and facilities, are ready to exceed your expectations.”