Snackbox To Go will present its latest food products at WTCE 2026

Snackbox To Go is gearing up for WTCE 2026, where it will present its latest food products and data-driven tools for airline catering and onboard services.

At its stand, the company will showcase a new range of sandwiches and snack items, including pizza bagels, designed with sustainability and inclusivity in mind. Snackbox To Go tells PAX International the ingredients are carefully selected and tailored to meet dietary requirements, such as halal compliance, enabling airlines to offer options for a broader group of passengers.

In addition to its food offerings, Snackbox To Go will present its Sustainability Monitor, a tool that provides insights into the environmental impact of packaging and snack selections. The tool aims to support airline partners in making more informed, environmentally conscious choices, says Kees Verschuure, Sales Director at Snackbox To Go.

The company will also highlight solutions across buy-on-board, complimentary service and special meals, with a focus on combining product innovation with practical tools for airlines.

WTCE 2026 attendees can visit Snackbox To Go's booth to explore its latest developments and see how data-driven insights are shaping the next generation of inflight offerings.
